

Laboratory Director – Clinical Immunoassay Laboratory and Metals Laboratory Rochester, MN

The Department of Laboratory Medicine and Pathology at the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minnesota is actively recruiting a full-time Clinical Chemist to join our team.

The position in the Clinical Biochemistry and Immunology Division will support existing and expanding clinical testing needs within the Clinical Immunoassay Laboratory (CIL) and the Metals Laboratory. CIL provides immunoassay based testing for a number of specialties including endocrine disorders, allergy, tumor markers and maternal serum screening for trisomes and neural tube defects. The Metals Laboratory is a specialized laboratory that performs analyses for essential, heavy and trace metals in biological samples.

The successful candidate will have a proven track record of providing outstanding clinical chemistry diagnostic service, working effectively with departmental colleagues, medical staff, laboratory technical personnel, and educating residents and fellows. Opportunities exist for collaborative research interactions and academic development.

The ideal candidate should have at least 3-5 years of experience directing a clinical chemistry laboratory and possess a PhD degree and ABCC board certification in clinical chemistry; experience and/or interest in allergy and endocrine disorders and metals analysis; evidence of ability to develop laboratory developed tests using immunoassay and mass spectrometry platforms; and demonstrated academic productivity.
